

Photo: Edouard Cointreau, with Pelle Agorelius on stage (photo: Linn Heed)

The Hallbars Awards Congress took place in Paris on December 3. There were many presentations, by awards winners, including videos and other documents. The awards ceremony followed, with certificates handed over by Edouard Cointreau, president, and Pelle Agorelius, CEO. Photos were taken by Linn Heed. Hallbars guests then celebrated their awards with champagne.

The Hallbars awards event was at the end of a whole week of celebrations in Paris, just before the Omicron variant really hit the news,. The pandemic did not affect attendance significantly, with foreign guests coming from 67 countries for the Gourmand Awards on November 29 and 30, and the Hallbars Awards at the end on December 3. Foreign guests left quickly because of quarantine measures and air flights cancellations. This event could not have taken place four days later.

FAO Yon Fernández de Larrinoa, Indigenous Peoples Team Leader

Bergen Kommune Vidéo (photo: Linn Heed)

Rainforest Alliance. Thierry Touchais and Joost Voets (photo: Linn Heed)

Agrolibano. Pamela Molina, fighting poverty, Agrolibano Foundation (photo: Linn Heed)

Springer Nature Group video (photo: Linn Heed)

Umeå, Sweden, Food & Climate (photo: Linn Heed)